With a Little Help from My Friends

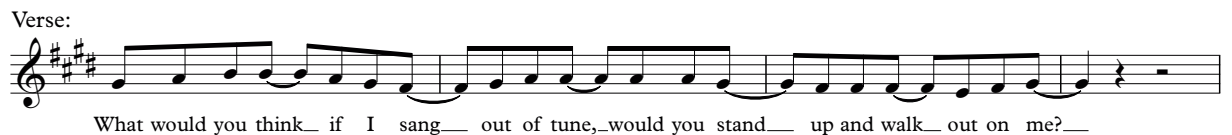

This song leads directly from the first song of the album, the title track, which aids the overall coherence of the album. It is sung by Ringo Starr, the drummer of the group.

Structure The song is structured in a typical manner:

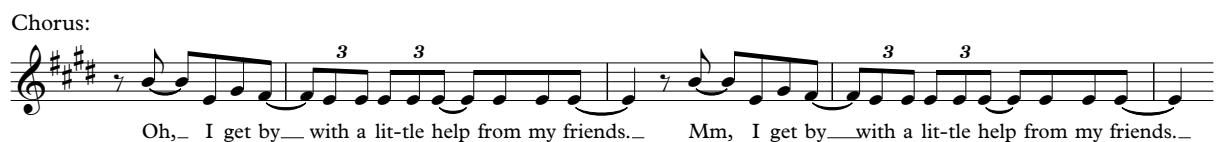

Verse, Chorus
Verse, Chorus
Bridge/Middle 8
Verse, Chorus
Bridge
Chorus

Melody Partly due to Ringo Starr's technical limitations, the melody in this song is rather limited in range (see below). The verse and chorus differ in their lyrical content and the music reflects this:

Verse Tense and questioning
Melodic contour: rising and falling scalar 3rds.
Harmonic framework: falling 4ths.

Chorus Confident and assured
Melodic contour: an embellished single pitch.
Harmonic framework: falling 4ths but with a flattened leading note giving a 'relaxed' mixolydian feel.

Technology This track makes use of stereo, a relatively new concept. Ringo's voice is placed to the left of centre and the bass is to the right (this scheme would become common practice by 1970).
